LONDON, April 11—Possible collapse of Rumania under threats from Nazi Germany before Great Britain can prepare her plan for a mutual Anglo-Rumanian pact of defense caused grave alarm in Britain today.

Sources close to the foreign office revealed that Foreign Minister Grigore Gafencu of Rumania has bowed to ceaseless pressure and consented to obey a peremptory German summons to Berlin.

Gafencu, until now a leading proponent of Balkan resistance to Nazi expansion, is expected in Berlin on Monday of next week. There he will meet German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

IL DUCE'S TROOPS READY FOR ACTION CLOSE TO MILLION

ROME, April 11—Italy's armed forces under the colors reached an estimated total of 950,000 today, the government called up an additional 200,000 men.

Most of the new reserves were from the class of 1912, but some came from the classes of 1913 and 1914. They were ordered on duty as the Italian government, through its press, issued a sharp criticism of Great Britain and at the same time advised the United States to "mind its business."

Italian authorities said the new mobilization was a routine measure—but admitted it had been taken in line with plans to prepare Italy for "any emergency" in the gathering European crisis.

It also was announced that Italian garrisons in the Aegean sea, near Greece, and in the African colony of Libya, adjoining French Tunisia, were "adequately manned."

Premier Mussolini postponed his plans to make a triumphal entry into Tirana, capital of occupied Albania, but his Fascist legions there pushed close to the Greek frontier. They captured the border town of Koritza.

The men called to the ranks were presumably meant to fill the places of the thousands sent to Albania to carry out the occupation of that country—an occupation carried out on a huge scale with a maximum display of Italian mechanized might.

Virginia Gayda, frequently press spokesman for Il Duce, flatly denied there was any justification for fears that Italy was planning annexation of Greece. He criticized Great Britain for her manner of conducting the British mandate in Palestine and advised the United States to attend to its own affairs. He said America was not qualified to act as judge of the morals of others.

ARMY TO FORCE DRAFT DODGER TO SERVE TIME

WASHINGTON, April 11—The prison cell from which wealthy Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, notorious World War draft dodger, fled to exile in Germany 19 years ago, still awaits the fugitive, responsible officials declared today.

Orders were issued for government agents to arrest him instantly on his return to United States soil after his wife, docking in New York from Germany, said Bergdoll plans to sail from Germany next week.

A war department spokesman declared Bergdoll must serve the five-year term imposed on him by an army court martial board in 1920 if he returns to this country.

There is no question of leniency being extended the fugitive so far as the war department is concerned, the spokesman said.

Amendments To Security Act To Postpone Tax Boost Considered

WASHINGTON, April 11—President Roosevelt, summoned his congressional leaders to the White House today to chart a course for the balance of the legislative session.

Those scheduled to confer with the chief executive were Vice President Garner, Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Speaker Bankhead and House Majority Leader Rayburn.

The house spokesmen indicated they would inform Mr. Roosevelt that their branch will have completed the bulk of its work by May 15, while Barkley was expected to reiterate his belief that the senate can be ready for adjournment by June 15.

Only the possibility of an extended battle over amendments to the neutrality and Wagner Labor Relations act might upset their schedule, they said. A prolonged fight in the senate on the Neutrality act, however, is a distinct possibility, according to senate spokesmen.

Three Provisions Listed

House leaders planned to lay the following tentative schedule before Mr. Roosevelt:

1. Passage of all appropriation bills, except the 1940 W. P. A. supply measure, by May 15. The W. P. A. bill will, as usual, be among the last measures to be considered.
2. Extension of the nuisance taxes and corporate levies which expire this year.
3. Amendments to the Social Security act with the possibility that the 50 percent increase in payroll taxes, effective next Jan. 1, will be postponed.

In addition, the house this week expects to dispose of administration bills to extend the President's extraordinary monetary powers and to increase from $3,000,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 the outstanding housing loans of the Federal Housing administration.

Legislation to aid the railroads will not be ready for house action before May 15, according to Chairman Lea of the house inter-

Mr. Colville said the amount of current taxes due for the December collection was $242,132.27, and delinquencies $104,316.23, making a total of $346,468.50. Many of the delinquencies, he explained, date back many years.

The December collection of 1937 amounted to $258,907.86. Mr. Colville attributed the increase a year ago to more delinquencies being paid.

OHIO OFFICER, SLAYER VICTIMS IN PISTOL FIGHTS

ZANESVILLE, April 11—A tale of swift retribution was written into official records here today after bullets from police guns ended the life of Hubert Pruett, 28, a Negro, just one hour after he had fatally wounded Erwin E. Tate, 41, Zanesville's only Negro patrolman.

Trapped in an alley following a brief manhunt, Pruett opened fire on pursuing officers who quickly ended his life with several slugs. He died almost instantly.

Tate was killed when he and another officer, Perce Dilcher, attempted to arrest Pruett on a minor charge. As Tate fell, Dilcher emptied his service revolver at Pruett, but he escaped.

Prior to slaying the policeman, Pruett had threatened to kill his father-in-law, William Sweed, 47, and his wife, Ruth, 19, authorities said. The widow asserted her husband had beaten her. The police slayer, a former resident of Coshocton, had been a W.P.A. worker.

The dead officer, who joined the force four years ago, is survived by his widow and four children.

GERMANY WARNS GREEKS, SLAVS AGAINST PACTS

BERLIN, April 11—A sharp warning to Greece and Yugoslavia against allowing themselves to be "misused by the western democracies" was delivered by the Nazi press today as newspaper publication was resumed after the long Easter weekend holiday.

The German public was made aware for the first time of the grave new tension in the Balkans by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkische Beobachter.

In a front-page article, the newspaper expressed belief that Athens would reject a "perfidious" offer from the democracies to guarantee its independence. Both Greece and Yugoslavia, the papers said, will benefit far more from the existing pledges of non-aggression by Germany and by Italy than from any promises by "the nervous and excitable diplomats of Paris and London."

ROME, April 11—Intense Italian military activity was authoritatively reported near the Greek border in occupied Albania today. Reliable advices said the troop movements were occurring at Koritza at the entrance of the valley which leads from Albania into Salonika, Greece.

A dispatch from Tirana said other detachments reached the towns of Tepelena and Devoli near the Greek border.

Most of the bombing planes stationed at the Brindisi base were sent to Albania.

All telephone communications between Rome and Brindisi were completely occupied by government officials. Permission to travel to Albania was still withheld from foreign news correspondents in Italy.

Herald "Open Letter" Becomes Text For Study In Circleville Schools

A Circleville Herald "Open Letter," appearing on March 31 and addressed to "Bicycle Riders," today became a classroom assignment for pupils of Circleville schools from the third grade through the senior class.

Superintendent Frank Fischer, Tuesday, instructed the principal of each of the city system's buildings to have the "Open Letter" covered, Wednesday, as a reading lesson or English lesson for the day. It was also suggested that the material be put aside and covered again for grades 3 to 8 next September.

Mr. Fischer suggested that teachers of the first and second grades discuss orally the suggestions for safety expressed in the "Open Letter."

"The bicycle situation in Circleville has long been an acute one," the school superintendent wrote to the principals. "The Herald has for several years put on a splendid campaign in the interests of bicycle safety. . . . It is up to us teachers of Circleville to do our part in this very important issue."

"Today you receive mimeographed copies of a recent Herald editorial on the subject. Enough copies are sent each of the five buildings to supply one for each pupil in grades 3-12 and special education. Principals will please assign this material in such a way that every pupil in the above grades will cover this material as a reading lesson or English lesson for the day."

The "Open Letter" which Supt. Fischer has chosen for study in the classrooms follows:

To Bicycle Riders:

1. Boys, Girls: City officials, parents and others are becoming more and more opposed to the "You must look out for me" attitude that many of you are taking when pumping up and down the streets on your bicycles. They are determined that something shall be done about the practice, because it is going to mean loss of life or limb to some of you some day. Why not best the authorities by adopting a set of rules of your own to follow when you are on your bicycles? Here are some which I think parents should encourage to make bicycle riding safer:
1. I will always stay on the extreme right side of the street or road and be always watching out for other traffic.
2. I will never carry a passenger on the handle bars or on the seat back of me.
3. I will never hitch onto a moving vehicle.
4. I will always look both ways before I cross at intersections or railroad crossings.
5. Before I stop or get off my bicycle, I will give proper signal and be over at my side of the street or road.
6. I will obey all traffic signals and stop signs, and after sunset I will carry a light in front and rear.
7. When I leave the curb next to a parked car I will first make sure that the way is clear.
8. I will never zigzag or do tricks on streets or highways.
9. I will always keep both hands on the handle bars.
10. When riding with a group, I will insist we ride in single file.
11. I will always be on the lookout for little children and other pedestrians.
12. When entering a street from an alley, or when entering a main road from a side road, even though there may be no stop sign there, I will first make sure that no one is approaching who has the right of way.

intentions regarding the status quo in the Mediterranean area. Britain sought cast-iron assurances from Italy that Premier Mussolini plans no further moves in that area—particularly that he plans no action against Greece.

House Session Vital

It appeared that the results of these soundings in Rome would determine the strength of Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration involving Greece, Turkey and possibly Rumania before the House of Commons on Thursday.

Under terms of the Anglo-Italian friendship pact, Italy promised not to alter the status quo in the Mediterranean. British authorities hold that Premier Mussolini broke this pledge by the Italian occupation of Albania and the reported concentration of Fascist troops along the Greco-Albanian border. In his statement on Thursday, Chamberlain is expected to announce the British government decision to protect Greece, Turkey and Rumania from possible aggression.

Meanwhile, the British press—evidently owing to Chamberlain's reluctance to denounce the Anglo-Italian pact on the strength of the Albanian invasion—expressed fears that Chamberlain is in "danger of being reconvinced" to his former policy of appeasing Europe's dictators.

With virtual unanimity, British newspapers urged the government to display the utmost firmness immediately and to do everything possible to strengthen the position of the European democracies.

Press Distrusts Duce

The press warned Chamberlain to place no trust in Mussolini's assurances that he plans to restrict his military activity to Albania and has no designs upon Greece.

In addition, there was mounting evidence in British diplomatic quarters that the French are becoming perturbed with what they regard as the "dilatoriness" of the British government in dealing with Duce.

Revelation of the quick British naval measures in the Mediterranean came with an announcement that units of the Mediterranean fleet, commanded by Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, which had been visiting Italian and French ports, had been ordered to rejoin the main body of warships "some place at sea."

SIX KNOWN DEAD AS FIRE SWEEPS CHICAGO HOUSE

CHICAGO, April 11—At least six persons were dead, three were reported dying from burns and 18 others were severely injured after a fire swept a tenement on Chicago's Southside early today. All the victims were Negroes. One fireman also was hurt.

Cause of the blaze, which demolished the three-story building in Chicago's densely populated Negro quarter, was not immediately determined.

It was feared additional victims were trapped in the ruins. Eight of the injured were hurt in leaps from the flaming structure. Ten persons were carried to safety by firemen who repeatedly braved death to return to the inferno.

state and foreign commerce committee.

Revision of the corporate tax structure is out as far as house leaders are concerned. They claim that any change would only shift more of the burden from 37,000 big corporations to 163,000 little ones and, in the words of one of the house chieftains, "the house will never vote to do that."

Wages, Hours Considered

Wage-hour revision is likely if the house labor committee can draft legislation that can be brought to the floor in a form which would bar amendments. The leaders are fearful that if the measure were thrown open to amendment the act would be riddled by "trades" between members anxious to secure exemptions for various industries.

and Nazi seizure of Bohemia and Moravia followed a day later.

The apparent disinclination of Rumania to join wholeheartedly in the "Stop Hitler" movement has handicapped British plans to put an end to Nazi aggression by an encircling system of alliances.

Thus far, Rumania has declined a pledge of mutual assistance such as that given by Poland in exchange for a British guarantee of political and territorial integrity.

It was recalled that Rumania turned a deaf ear to British diplomatic arguments and signed with Germany a trade pact which gave the Reich valuable oil and other concessions. The Rumanians are believed to prefer a working arrangement with Germany to any new system of alliances which in event of conflict would enable Soviet troops to cross Rumanian soil.

British Doubtful

The British fear, however, that any such working agreement would be a one-sided one, with Rumania emerging as another vassal of the mighty German empire that Hitler is creating in Europe.

'TAMMANY', NEW YORK'S FAMED CITY HALL CAT, DEAD AT AGE OF 10

NEW YORK, April 11—Tammany, ruler of rats at City Hall since James J. Walker attached that politically-inspired cognomen to him eight years ago, gave up the last of his nine lives today.

The 10-year-old cat died in a private room at an animal hospital while Chief Veterinarian Dr. James Kinney kept vigil at his bedside. Uremic poisoning, complicated by an acute heart condition and kidney trouble caused death, Dr. Kinney announced.

Eight years ago Tammany stuck his nose into the city hall lobby and a building custodian seized him for the war against rats then overrunning the basement. In a couple of weeks, Tammany had the basement cleaned up at the cost of several painful bites and scratches.

Tammany got his greatest accolade for halting a long-winded member of the old board of alderman as he was preparing to embark into the fifth hour of a dull speech. Tammany slipped off his accustomed seat on the speaker's dais, with a haughty stride made his way to the speaker's chair and then fixed the harangue with a cold stare that he retired at once in confusion. Tammany got a medal for that feat but he chewed away at the ribbon around his neck and refused to wear it.

Iraz now has a ruler who is only three years old. Some other countries we know of have rulers who act this age.

CADY FAVORS CANCER DRIVE DURING APRIL

Whereas, an intensive nationwide campaign of education against cancer has been launched by the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer,

Whereas, a unit of the Army organized by leading women and directed by outstanding physicians is now engaged in this community in its war to save human life under the slogan "Early Cancer Is Curable. Fight It With Knowledge,"

Whereas, cancer is a disease that may strike anyone of us and against which each of us may by intelligence and alertness protect himself or herself to a real degree,

Whereas, 8,602 persons in Ohio died of cancer last year, many of them needlessly,

Whereas, one out of seven of those now over forty will die in the future of this disease unless appropriate action is taken,

Therefore, I, William B. Cady as Mayor of Circleville, Ohio, urge all men and women to unite in supporting the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer and I formally set aside April as Cancer Control Month.

In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on this 11th day of April, 1939.

CANNING PLANT WAGE-HOUR LAW TO BE CHANGED

Canning industry leaders, Tuesday, greeted the announcement in Washington, D. C. by Chairman Mary T. Norton of the House Labor committee that efforts are being made to liberalize and strengthen provisions of the wage and hour law that affect the canning business.

Chairman Norton declared that farm organizations, which charge that the wage-hour administration has misinterpreted proposed congressional exemption for small packing and canning plants, sought a liberalizing change.

General revision of the wage-hour law may be dropped, Chairman Norton said, as a result of developing opposition. In spite of recommendations of Administrator Elmer F. Andrews for modification of the act, a bitter fight has developed over many proposed changes.

"If there is too much opposition, we'll simply drop the whole thing," said Mrs. Norton. "We are not going to open up and cut the heart out of this bill."

"The trouble is that there is so much selfishness. We proposed to relieve hardship cases, but many others want to serve their own selfish interests."

intentions regarding the status quo in the Mediterranean area. Britain sought east-iron assurances from Italy that Premier Mussolini plans no further moves in that area—particularly that he plans no action against Greece.

House Session Vital

It appeared that the results of these soundings in Rome would determine the strength of Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration involving Greece, Turkey and possibly Rumania before the House of Commons on Thursday.

Under terms of the Anglo-Italian friendship pact, Italy promised not to alter the status quo in the Mediterranean. British authorities hold that Premier Mussolini broke this pledge by the Italian occupation of Albania and the reported concentration of Fascist troops along the Greco-Albanian border. In his statement on Thursday, Chamberlain is expected to announce the British government decision to protect Greece, Turkey and Rumania from possible aggression.

Meanwhile, the British press—evidently owing to Chamberlain's reluctance to denounce the Anglo-Italian pact on the strength of the Albanian invasion—expressed fears that Chamberlain is in "danger of being reconverted" to his former policy of appeasing Europe's dictators.

With virtual unanimity, British newspapers urged the government to display the utmost firmness immediately and to do everything possible to strengthen the position of the European democracies.

Press Distrusts Duce

The press warned Chamberlain to place no trust in Mussolini's assurances that he plans to restrict his military activity to Albania and has no designs upon Greece.

In addition, there was mounting evidence in British diplomatic quarters that the French are becoming perturbed with what they regard as the "dilatoriness" of the British government in dealing with the Duce.

Revelation of the quick British naval measures in the Mediterranean came with an announcement that units of the Mediterranean fleet, commanded by Admiral Sir Dudley Pound, which had been visiting Italian and French ports, had been ordered to rejoin the main body of warships "some place at sea."

Reports that British vessels were concentrating off Corfu, Greek island located off southern Albania and site of British naval base, went without official verification. The reports excited speculation, however, owing to unconfirmed rumors that Corfu figured in Mussolini's plans.

SIX KNOWN DEAD AS FIRE SWEEPS CHICAGO HOUSE

CHICAGO, April 11—At least six persons were dead, three were reported dying from burns and 18 others were severely injured after fire swept a tenement on Chicago's Southside early today. All the victims were Negroes. One fireman also was hurt.

Cause of the blaze, which demolished the three-story building in Chicago's densely populated Negro quarter, was not immediately determined.

It was feared additional victims were trapped in the ruins. Eight of the injured were hurt in leaps from the flaming structure. Ten persons were carried to safety by firemen who repeatedly braved death to return to the inferno.

A crowd of several hundred persons watching the blaze interfered with the firefighters, and attaches at Lewis Memorial hospital, only half a block from the scene, reported the noise and smoke had terrified patients.

F. D. R. CONFERS WITH LEADERS ABOUT PROGRAM

House To Complete Most Of Its Work By May 15, Spokesmen Say

state and foreign commerce committee. Revision of the corporate tax structure is out as far as house leaders are concerned. They claim that any change would only shift more of the burden from 37,000 big corporations to 163,000 little ones and, in the words of one of the house chieftains, "the house will never vote to do that."

Wages, Hours Considered
Wage-hour revision is likely if the house labor committee can draft legislation that can be brought to the floor in a form which would bar amendments. The leaders are fearful that if the measure were thrown open to amendment the act would be riddled by "trades" between members anxious to secure exemptions for various industries.

TAMMANY, NEW YORK'S FAMED CITY HALL CAT, DEAD AT AGE OF 10
NEW YORK, April 11—Tammany, ruler of rats at City Hall since James J. Walker attached that politically-inspired cognomen to him eight years ago, gave up the last of his nine lives today.

The 10-year-old cat died in a private room at an animal hospital while Chief Veterinarian Dr. James Kinney kept vigil at his bedside. Uremic poisoning, complicated by an acute heart condition and kidney trouble caused death, Dr. Kinney announced.

Eight years ago Tammany stuck his nose into the city hall lobby and a building custodian seized him for the war against rats then overrunning the basement. In a couple of weeks, Tammany had the basement cleaned up at the cost of several painful bites and scratches.

Tammany got his greatest accolade for halting a long-winded member of the old board of alderman as he was preparing to embark into the fifth hour of a dull speech. Tammany slipped off his accustomed seat on the speaker's dais, with a haughty stride made his way to the speaker's chair and then fixed the haranguer with a cold stare that he retired at once in confusion. Tammany got a medal for that feat but he chewed away at the ribbon around his neck and refused to wear it.

Iraz now has a ruler who is only three years old. Some other countries we know of have rulers who act this age.

CADY FAVORS CANCER DRIVE DURING APRIL

Whereas, an intensive nationwide campaign of education against cancer has been launched by the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer,

Whereas, a unit of the Army organized by leading women and directed by outstanding physicians is now engaged in this community in its war to save human life under the slogan "Early Cancer Is Curable. Fight It With Knowledge,"

Whereas, cancer is a disease that may strike anyone of us and against which each of us may by intelligence and alertness protect himself or herself to a real degree,

Whereas, 8,602 persons in Ohio died of cancer last year, many of them needlessly,

Whereas, one out of seven of those now over forty will die in the future of this disease unless appropriate action is taken,

Therefore, I, William B. Cady as Mayor of Circleville, Ohio, urge all men and women to unite in supporting the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer and I formally set aside April as Cancer Control Month.

In witness thereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal on this 11th day of April, 1939.

CANNING PLANT WAGE-HOUR LAW TO BE CHANGED

Canning industry leaders, Tuesday, greeted the announcement in Washington, D. C. by Chairman Mary T. Norton of the House Labor committee that efforts are being made to liberalize and strengthen provisions of the wage and hour law that affect the canning business.

Chairman Norton declared that farm organizations, which charge that the wage-hour administration has misinterpreted proposed congressional exemption for small packing and canning plants, sought a liberalizing change.

General revision of the wage-hour law may be dropped, Chairman Norton said, as a result of developing opposition. In spite of recommendations of Administrator Elmer F. Andrews for modification of the act, a bitter fight has developed over many proposed changes.

"If there is too much opposition, we'll simply drop the whole thing," said Mrs. Norton. "We are not going to open up and cut the heart out of this bill."

"The trouble is that there is so much selfishness. We proposed to relieve hardship cases, but many others want to serve their own selfish interests."

BRYAN MAN, 47, CHARGED WITH MURDER EFFORT
BRYAN, April 11—Because a 17-year-old girl spurned his affections, Ernest Meacham, 47, placed three sticks of dynamite with fuse attached under her residence in the village of Pioneer, Prosecutor Frederick Parker said today.

The fuse was never ignited but for more than a week the lives of the young girl, Mary Beck; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Beck, and six other Beck children had been endangered by the unsuspected explosives.

Neighbors, noticing Meacham acting suspiciously near the Beck home, notified officers who discovered the dynamite and made the arrest. They said Meacham once served 14 months in Ohio penitentiary on a forgery charge, being committed from Defiance county.

Deputy Walter McFadden said a flashlight case in Meacham's possession when arrested contained dynamite and gunpowder with which the suspect told him he had intended to kill himself, planning to touch it off with a cigaret.

ATHENS COUNTY SOLON MAY ASK PROBE OF 'REDS'

Legislators Believe Phillips May Hurl Issue Back Into Session

COLUMBUS, April 11—Legislative corridors buzzed with "red" talk today as reports circulated that Sen. H. T. Phillips (R-Athens) would introduce another resolution calling for an investigation of alleged subversive activities in state schools.

It was the second time that the upper house has been stirred by reports that un-Americanism is rampant in state-supported schools and colleges.

The first attempt to start a "red" hunt got as far as the military affairs committee. The committee was ready to summon the author of the proposed investigation, Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R-Canton) when he suddenly withdrew his resolution calling for the probe.

No College Specified

While Pollock's resolution ostensibly was aimed at Ohio State university after the Franklin County Council of the American Legion protested that un-Americanism practices flourished on the campus, it was understood that if Phillips' resolution is introduced it will not mention any particular school or college.

Questioned regarding the report of such a resolution, Phillips said:

"I don't know what I'll do, I'll have to see about it."

Several senators insisted that Phillips would attempt to revive the "red" investigation and showed letters bearing the names of several patriotic and civic groups urging them to vote for such a resolution.

The letters purportedly came from the Ohio Council of Civic, Fraternal and Patriotic Organizations and informed the senators that a resolution proposing a probe of subversive activities would be introduced.

Leaders in both the senate and house denied knowledge of any projected investigation.

The senate committee on economy in state government recommended for passage the Asman bill which would set up a commission to study the need for new state buildings and the Palmer bill requiring the printing of legislative bills on less expensive paper and cutting down the size of bills.

Highway Bill Delayed

After amending the Nickels bill which proposed reorganization of the state highway department the senate decided to put the bill over for a few days.

The amendment struck out the section of the bill calling for abolishment of the jobs of resident engineers and proposed that continuance of 88 maintenance districts be left to the discretion of the state highway director.

Three bills introduced in the senate would:

Permit construction of highways through cemetery land, introduced by Sen. Nickels, (R-New Philadelphia); permit arrest of vendors and confiscation of fraudulent labelled produce, introduced by Sen. Rogers (R-Grafton) and authorize the village of Peninsula, Summit county to pay a claim of $954 for fire fighting equipment.

Four emergency measures were passed in the house which would: Permit issuance of notes in anticipation of delinquent taxes to pay relief expenses and deficits; exempt salaries and wages in excess of $3,000 a year from unemployment compensation tax; modify civil liability under sale of securities contrary to the Ohio security law, and strengthen the laws regulating bond investment companies.

A resolution was adopted by the house felicitating Archbishop Joseph Schrembs of Cleveland on his elevation to archbishop in the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Another bill, introduced by Rep. Willis I. Cory (R-Seneca) would assess stone and gravel plant materials as manufacturing equipment at the rate of 50 per cent of their value.

PETTENGILL "The Gentleman from Indiana"

BREAD AND CIRCUSES

The advocates of Communism, Fascism, or Nazism claim that democratic institutions have failed. Have they? Are they and our Constitution really at fault? Or is the chief fault today a failure of moral character?

If it is the first, then by all means change our fundamental law, wipe out our free enterprise system, which gives the workers more than the shirkers, destroy the states, concentrate power in a single head, and remove all checks and balances that act as a brake to ruthless efficiency—and tyranny. But if it is the latter—a failure of character—then

PETTENGILL leave our form of government alone and go to work on the moral foundations beneath.

After eight years in Congress I have come to a clear conviction on this matter. It is the same as that expressed by General Washington in a letter to LaFayette, that the government was in no danger of becoming a despotism "as long as there shall remain any virtue in the body of the people."

No acid is so corrosive of character as easy money and especially public money. A superintendent of one of our national parks—one of the blue ribbon services of government—told me that easy money had "got him." He no longer received praise for careful expenditure. On the contrary, the idea was to get it "in circulation." The more the better. Don't be old-fogey. And so he had lost his old pride in his job. He was hauling down the flag. It hurt him to do it. But why try to save?

There have always been privilege seekers and grafters around government. Something for nothing. But they have not heretofore destroyed the Republic as they have so nearly rotted many of our large cities. The infection has been localized. But now we see signs of Tammanyizing the entire nation. Millions of handouts. Organizers and politicians mobilizing huge blocks of voters. "We should look forward to the time," said Thomas Jefferson, "when a corruption in this, as in the country from which we came, will have seized the heads of the government, and be spread by them through the body of the people, when they will purchase the votes of the people, and make them pay the price."

No government, with whatever good intent, can do anything but legislative patchwork while easy money feeds this moral infection.

It is spreading constantly. New lobbies form daily. The last is free medicine, free hospitals, free dentistry. Why not free groceries, free coal, free clothing, free gasoline, free motion picture tickets, free furniture, free houses? The land of the "free" and the home of the slave!

Well, why not? Why should one get the free service of a doctor, and not the free service of a carpenter? Is it because the carpenters are organized to fight back, and the doctors are not?

For automobiles, gasoline, parts, accessories, garage and repairs we annually pay 8½ billions; for cigarettes and tobacco 2½ billions; for movies 2 billions; for baseball, football, etc., 2 billions; for cosmetics, hair dressing and beauty shoppes 1 billion; for liquor 2 billions.

Here is 18 billion dollars annually. It is not for necessities. It is for luxuries and comforts. None are as necessary as medical care. Yet we have money to pay for all of them.

I am glad we have. But an honest answer should be made to this question: If we have 18 billions for these luxury goods, why can we not pay for medical care? Why do we need state medicine?

The total cost of medical care, hospitals, surgery, nursing, drugs and medicine is 3 billion dollars, or 1-6 as much as we pay for luxuries. In addition the doctors give away a million dollars worth of service every day to the very poor and unfortunate. That is part of the moral obligation of their profession.

Some illnesses are terribly expensive. Infantile paralysis is one. Blindness is another. It is proper to pool our resources to help meet these exceptional cases by private charity or public taxation. But in the run-of-the-mine case of illness how many people can honestly say that they couldn't pay their doctor if they made some small sacrifice in the 18 billion dollar class of goods? Does it come down to this: Make the "government" pay for our necessities so that we will be free

KIWANIANS WIN DISTRICT HONOR

Mooney Declares Attendance Record For Last Month Among Best

The Circleville Kiwanis Club was praised Monday evening by L. P. Mooney, of Logan, lieutenant governor of the fifth Ohio Kiwanis district, for the showing it has made in the district and the entire Ohio division in attendance in the last two months. Mr. Mooney, who made his official visit to the club, declared that he was almost certain that the club's record of 95.7 percent attendance during March would lead the district and possibly the entire division.

Mr. Mooney delivered an inspirational address stressing the need for all Kiwanians to follow the pledge made at the San Francisco convention to support the church's spiritual aims.

The lieutenant governor was accompanied to Circleville by Dr. M. H. Cherrington and the Rev. Charles W. Graham, both members of the Logan club.

Delegates Elected

Renick W. Dunlap and Dwight Steele were named as delegates and the Rev. C. F. Bowman and Tom A. Renick were chosen as alternates to the International convention in Boston next June 18-22.

The club made additional plans for the Policeman's and Fireman's Ball to be conducted in Memorial Hall on May 17. Dan McClain, chairman of the club's committee, reported that tickets would be available next Monday evening. They will be sold by firemen, policemen and Kiwanians, the three dividing the proceeds of the function. Arrangements have been made for the use of Memorial Hall.

Committees appointed include: hall, Mayor W. B. Cady and Fire Chief Talmer Wise; concessions, Sterling Lamb; checkroom, firemen; orchestra, Virgil Cress, Ted Schmidt, Luther Bower and Sterling Lamb; entertainment, Dan McClain, Dwight Steele and Don Walker; advertising and publicity, Joe Wheeler, Glen Geib, Herschel Hill and Fred Tipton; chairman of police tickets, Mayor Cady; chairman of firemen's tickets, Chief Wise.

The police will use proceeds they receive for needed equipment, firemen will help finance their Christmas toy program, and Kiwanians will use their money for underprivileged children, possibly a health camp to be conducted during the Summer.

Thursday at the Cliftona theatre to provide startling and dramatic new thrills in a blistering battle of fists and bullets! This Columbia production is the story of an old-school cop who uncovers clue after clue in his hunt for an unknown killer, only to learn that the finger of guilt points to his own son!

Alan Baxter, Jacqueline Wells and Gordon Oliver are among the principal members of the splendid cast, which includes Willard Robertson, Joseph King, Eddie Laughton and John Tyrrell. C. C. Coleman, Jr., directed, from an original story by Arthur Horman.

On the same program, Bruce Cabot, as a two-fisted sleuth attached to the "Homicide Bureau," and Rita Hayworth, as the police department's pretty laboratory expert, are co-featured at the Cliftona theatre in Columbia's timely new drama. The players, who break up an international munitions ring, are supported by Robert Paige, Moroni Olsen and Marc Lawrence.

AT THE GRAND

He has never read "Gone with the Wind" or "Anthony Adverse." He does not like string quartets, poetry, carrots or people who start conversations by saying "How's things!" and never give you a chance to answer because they're so busy telling you how things are with them.

He eats vegetables, not by choice, but because they're good for him. He owns a right-hand drive car because it is his ambition to drive all over Europe.

Coupled with this information, he is 6 feet, 1 inch tall, weighs 178 pounds, has dark brown hair and blue eyes, a sense of humor and an airplane pilot's license. That's a very sketchy description of Bob Cummings, who plays one of the two leading male roles with Deanna Durbin in her new Universal picture, "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," now at the Grand theatre.

That new 200-inch telescope will enable us to see a trillion miles into space. But will it enable us to see around that corner where boom times are supposed to be?

ATHENS COUNTY SOLON MAY ASK PROBE OF 'REDS'

Legislators Believe Phillips May Hurl Issue Back Into Session

COLUMBUS, April 11—Legislative corridors buzzed with "red" talk today as reports circulated that Sen. H. T. Phillips (R-Athens) would introduce another resolution calling for an investigation of alleged subversive activities in state schools.

It was the second time that the upper house has been stirred by reports that un-Americanism is rampant in state-supported schools and colleges.

The first attempt to start a "red" hunt got as far as the military affairs committee. The committee was ready to summon the author of the proposed investigation, Sen. Robert A. Pollock (R-Canton) when he suddenly withdrew his resolution calling for the probe.

No College Specified

While Pollock's resolution ostensibly was aimed at Ohio State university after the Franklin County Council of the American Legion protested that un-Americanism practices flourished on the campus, it was understood that if Phillips' resolution is introduced it will not mention any particular school or college.

Questioned regarding the report of such a resolution, Phillips said:

"I don't know what I'll do. I'll have to see about it."

Several senators insisted that Phillips would attempt to revive the "red" investigation and showed letters bearing the names of several patriotic and civic groups urging them to vote for such a resolution.

The letters purportedly came from the Ohio Council of Civic, Fraternal and Patriotic Organizations and informed the senators that a resolution proposing a probe of subversive activities would be introduced.

Leaders in both the senate and house denied knowledge of any projected investigation.

The senate committee on economy in state government recommended for passage the Asmarin bill which would set up a commission to study the need for new state buildings and the Palmer bill requiring the printing of legislative bills on less expensive paper and cutting down the size of bills.

Highway Bill Delayed

After amending the Nickels bill which proposed reorganization of the state highway department the senate decided to put the bill over for a few days.

The amendment struck out the section of the bill calling for abolishment of the jobs of resident engineers and proposed that continuance of 88 maintenance districts be left to the discretion of the state highway director.

Three bills introduced in the senate would:

Permit construction of highways through cemetery land, introduced by Sen. Nickels, (R-New Philadelphia); permit arrest of vendors and confiscation of fraudulent labelled produce, introduced by Sen. Rogers (R-Grafton) and authorize the village of Peninsula, Summit county to pay a claim of $954 for fire fighting equipment.

Four emergency measures were passed in the house which would:

Permit issuance of notes in anticipation of delinquent taxes to pay relief expenses and deficits; exempt salaries and wages in excess of $3,000 a year from unemployment compensation tax; modify civil liability under sale of securities contrary to the Ohio security law, and strengthen the laws regulating bond investment companies.

A resolution was adopted by the house felicitating Archbishop Joseph Schrembs of Cleveland on his elevation to archbishop in the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Another bill, introduced by Rep. Willis I. Cory (R-Seneca) would assess stone and gravel plant materials as manufacturing equipment at the rate of 50 per cent of their value.

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

BREAD AND CIRCUSES

The advocates of Communism, Fascism, or Nazism claim that democratic institutions have failed. Have they? Are they and our Constitution really at fault? Or is the chief fault today a failure of moral character?

If it is the first, then by all means change our fundamental law, wipe out our free enterprise system, which gives the workers more than the shirkers, destroy the states, concentrate power in a single head, and remove all checks and balances that act as a brake to ruthless efficiency—and tyranny. But if it is the latter—a failure of character—then leave our form of government alone and go to work on the moral foundations beneath.

After eight years in Congress I have come to a clear conviction on this matter. It is the same as that expressed by General Washington in a letter to LaFayette, that the government was in no danger of becoming a despotism "as long as there shall remain any virtue in the body of the people."

No acid is so corrosive of character as easy money and especially public money. A superintendent of one of our national parks—one of the blue ribbon services of government—told me that easy money had "got him." He no longer received praise for careful expenditure. On the contrary. The idea was to get it "in circulation." The more the better. Don't be old-fogey. And so he had lost his old pride in his job. He was hauling down the flag. It hurt him to do it. But why try to save?

There have always been privilege seekers and grafters around government. Something for nothing. But they have not heretofore destroyed the Republic as they have so nearly rotted many of our large cities. The infection has been localized. But now we see signs of Tammanyizing the entire nation. Millions of hand-outs. Organizers and politicians mobilizing huge blocks of voters.

"We should look forward to the time," said Thomas Jefferson, "when a corruption in this, as in the country from which we came, will have seized the heads of the government, and be spread by them through the body of the people, when they will purchase the votes of the people, and make them pay the price."

No government, with whatever good intent, can do anything but legislative patchwork while easy money feeds this moral infection. It is spreading constantly. New lobbies form daily. The last is free medicine, free hospitals, free dentistry. Why not free groceries, free coal, free clothing, free gasoline, free motion picture tickets, free furniture, free houses? The land of the "free" and the home of the slave!

Well, why not? Why should one get the free service of a doctor, and not the free service of a carpenter? Is it because the carpenters are organized to fight back, and the doctors are not?

For automobiles, gasoline, parts, accessories, garage and repairs we annually pay 8½ billions; for cigarettes and tobacco 2½ billions; for movies 2 billions; for baseball, football, etc., 2 billions; for cosmetics, hair dressing and beauty shoppes 1 billion; for liquor 2 billions.

Here is 18 billion dollars annually. It is not for necessities. It is for luxuries and comforts. None are as necessary as medical care. Yet we have money to pay for all of them.

I am glad we have. But an honest answer should be made to this question: If we have 18 billions for these luxury goods, why can we not pay for medical care? Why do we need state medicine?

The total cost of medical care, hospitals, surgery, nursing, drugs and medicine is 3 billion dollars, or 1-6 as much as we pay for luxuries. In addition the doctors give away a million dollars worth of service every day to the very poor and unfortunate. That is part of the moral obligation of their profession.

Some illnesses are terribly expensive. Infantile paralysis is one. Blindness is another. It is proper to pool our resources to help meet these exceptional cases by private charity or public taxation. But in the run-of-the-mine case of illness how many people can honestly say that they couldn't pay their doctor if they made some small sacrifice in the 18 billion dollar class of goods? Does it come down to this: Make the "government" pay for our necessities so that we will be free to spend our money for our pleasures? There are people with small incomes who do pay their bills. There are people who do save for old age. There are people who have sacrificed to get their homes paid for. Will these people stand by much longer as their hard won savings are thrown to the "gimmies"?

This does not apply to the villages in which class we are. Villages circulate petitions containing the names of those who are proposed to appear on the regular November ballot. These village petitions must be filed with the county election board sixty days prior to the November election and which date is about September 6 or 8, and this is only April 11, so prospective village candidates have almost five months yet to decide which one of the offices they prefer to grab off for themselves. What may happen here in way of candidates, no one will even venture a guess.

KIWANIANS WIN DISTRICT HONOR

Mooney Declares Attendance Record For Last Month Among Best

The Circleville Kiwanis Club was praised Monday evening by L. P. Mooney, of Logan, lieutenant governor of the fifth Ohio Kiwanis district, for the showing it has made in the district and the entire Ohio division in attendance in the last two months. Mr. Mooney, who made his official visit to the club, declared that he was almost certain that the club's record of 95.7 percent attendance during March would lead the district and possibly the entire division.

Mr. Mooney delivered an inspirational address stressing the need for all Kiwanians to follow the pledge made at the San Francisco convention to support the church's spiritual aims.

The lieutenant governor was accompanied to Circleville by Dr. M. H. Cherrington and the Rev. Charles W. Graham, both members of the Logan club.

Delegates Elected

Renick W. Dunlap and Dwight Steele were named as delegates and the Rev. C. F. Bowman and Tom A. Renick were chosen as alternates to the International convention in Boston next June 18-22.

The club made additional plans for the Policeman's and Fireman's Ball to be conducted in Memorial Hall on May 17. Dan McClain, chairman of the club's committee, reported that tickets would be available next Monday evening. They will be sold by firemen, policemen and Kiwanians, the three dividing the proceeds of the function. Arrangements have been made for the use of Memorial Hall.

Committees appointed include: hall, Mayor W. B. Cady and Fire Chief Talmer Wise; concessions, Sterling Lamb; checkroom, firemen; orchestra, Virgil Cress, Ted Schmidt, Luther Bower and Sterling Lamb; entertainment, Dan McClain, Dwight Steele and Don Walker; advertising and publicity, Joe Wheeler, Glen Geib, Herschel Hill and Fred Tipton; chairman of police tickets, Mayor Cady; chairman of firemen's tickets, Chief Wise.

The police will use proceeds they receive for needed equipment, firemen will help finance their Christmas toy program, and Kiwanians will use their money for underprivileged children, possibly a health camp to be conducted during the Summer.

WORM MAY TURN IN ASIA

WITH the British Lion rousing itself for action in Europe, it may not be long until that patient beast turns its attention also to Asia. Never in history has it had its tail twisted so much in that quarter of the world.

And if Britain starts a push against Japanese aggression, there will doubtless be help from other quarters. France, too, is out of patience with Japan, and Holland is worried about her East Indies. The Japanese penchant for collecting islands grows more and more alarming.

Naturally Uncle Sam, too, is uneasy about that business. It is something regarding which all the threatened nations can understand each other. And they may exert heavy pressure, when they get around to it.

It is not unknown to Americans, and to the world, that in this vast drive to conquer China, dominate eastern Asia and expel the white race from that quarter of the world, the Japanese government is operating on a shoestring. The country is already bled white financially and has suffered great military losses. The common people are not interested in the war and business men are reported to be mostly against it. China is still fighting. The Tokyo militarists may yet run into the trouble they have been asking for.

HEMISPHERE FREE TRADE

COL. FRANK KNOX, Chicago newspaper publisher and Republican nominee for Vice President in 1936, joins the growing list of prominent Americans returning from South American tours with a keen interest in Pan-American problems. Colonel Knox would like to have the United States try "an experiment" in our Latin-American policy. The experiment would be nothing less than free trade.

"The United States," he says, "must consider very carefully whether it should not change its traditional policy of equal treatment to all nations and treat South America as a quasi-domestic problem. We have in juxtaposition the United States, the greatest industrial nation, and South America, the greatest agricultural region in the world. On top of that natural affinity we have the upset world conditions, in addition, the reason of common defense.

"I would be perfectly willing to see the experiment of free trade tried, especially with Brazil. If trade with all South America were opened up it would make us independent of Europe."

It is a startling suggestion and will meet with plenty of opposition, but it is thought-provoking. There is more to defense and security than military power. That is essential in today's world, but its need can be reduced only as other strength is increased—economic strength, good will,

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up and about the village on a windy morn, hearing little talk except the possibility of war and expressions of opinion that the time has come to halt Hitler and Mussolini. Exchanged greetings with Les May and at the post caught a glimpse of Frank Lynch as he drove past. Every Easter Frank's wife prepares for him a big basket of colored eggs. That is on his special order. And this Easter I received a basket of beautiful eggs from Frank. The card read: "I asked Mrs. Jack Rabbit of Easterland to send my message by her Johnny Boy's hand. He met we Chick Chick and Mrs. Hen Peck and old Mr. Quack with his ducky long neck. They all with the bunnies joined me, too, in wishing "A Happy Easter to you."

Visited the office of Dr. Bales and inspected his collection of shells, one of the largest and finest in the world. Until then had no idea of the great variety. More than 4,000 shells and hundreds and hundreds of variety. More than 4,000 shells repulsive objects to some that might easily be mistaken for jewels. And all the colors of the rainbow. I have an idea now of the pleasure the doctor gets in collecting them.

Lee Shaner must fear frosts. At least he is running no risk with his young peach orchard south of the village. Under practically every tree is a smudge pot. Well, sometimes freezes come late. The worst blizzard I ever saw hit on the tenth day of May in the North-west and when it passed three days later thousands of cattle and horses were dead. No one expected that, either.

See by the prints that Bill Cady seeks another term as mayor. I am in favor of that, for he has been a good official, devoting all of his time to the office.

U. S. AIRLINES IN SOUTH?

WASHINGTON — Private conferences held between high State, War and Navy Department officials indicate that the Roosevelt Administration finally has awakened to the seriousness of Nazi-Fascist penetration in South America.

Particularly worrisome is the expansion of German and Italian air lines, some of them flying not far from the Panama Canal. To offset this, a revolutionary plan has been proposed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Briefly, the plan calls for the establishment of United States Government airlines in South America. It also calls for a monopoly of all air transport under one company in all the 20 republics of Latin America.

During the first five years, the company would be owned and operated by the U. S. Government. Every German or Italian line in the southern continent would be bought up, or expropriated by the governments affected. Then after five years, 50 percent of the company's stock would be turned over to the interested Latin American countries at cost price, and from that point on, the lines would be operated jointly, with profits divided.

This plan was proposed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority to the State, War and Navy Departments, but already has met with such opposition that it probably will be vetoed.

SECOND AVIATION PLAN

A more moderate plan now is being discussed, intended to encourage Latin American governments to operate their own airlines rather than use German and Italian. Fascist-Nazi pilots would be eliminated entirely by lending U. S. pilots and by training Latin American pilots extensively in the United States.

Also, Latin American countries would be encouraged to nationalize their airlines by buying U. S. planes through Export-Import Bank subsidies. At present Germany sells planes in Latin America at about 50 percent below the U. S. price, largely because the Nazis operate on a policy of subsidizing sales in order to keep their factories busy in preparation for war.

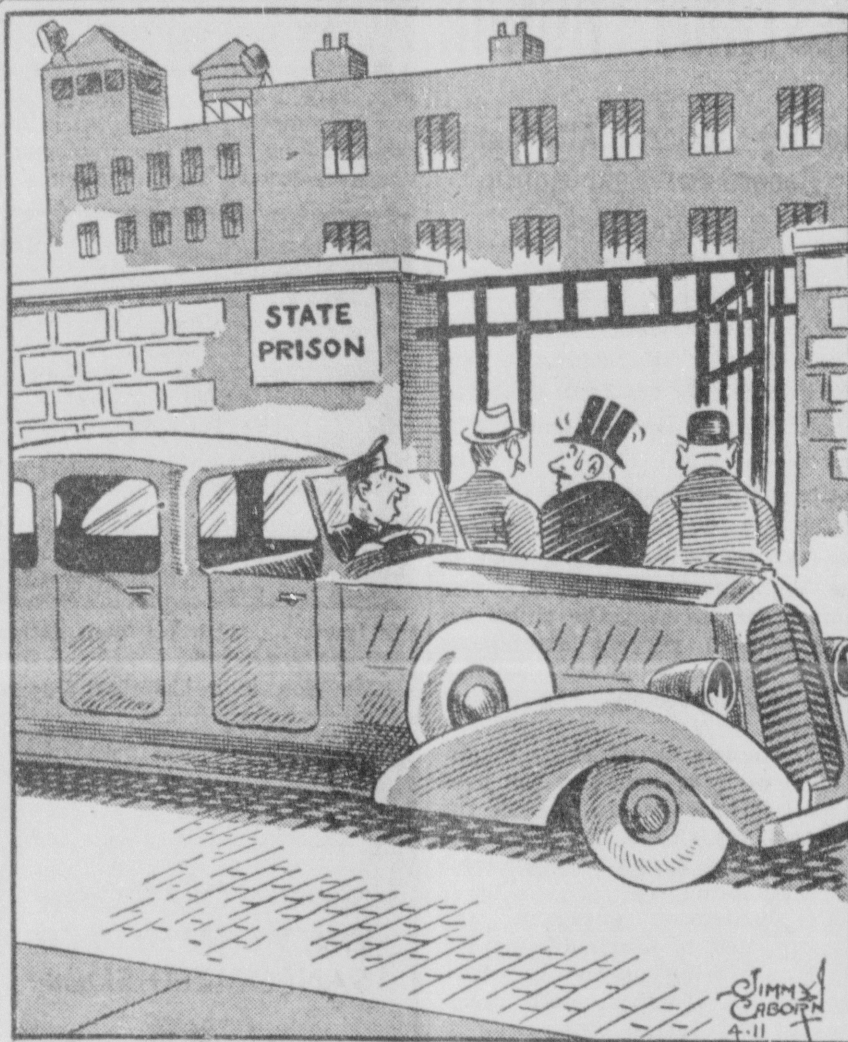

Nothing definite has been decided yet, except that something must be done about Nazi aviation in South America.

Amateur Acting As a Treatment

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

EVERYONE knows the effect on an impressionable member of the family engaging for the first time in amateur theatricals. The family finds they have an entirely new and different person on their hands.

It is not surprising, then, that the modern psychiatrist, striving to bring every influence to bear on changing the mental viewpoint of his patients, should have hit upon this medium of expression as a means to that end. Amateur theatricals have been pressed into service for a great many purposes, and now they are used as a method of treatment.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

From the alert and modern Menninger clinic in Topeka, Kansas, comes a particular report of such an experiment.

Plot of Play

The play selected is named "Man Submerged." The plot concerns a man who thinks women have an easier part to play in the day's routine. So by arrangement he stays at home one day and does the housework while his wife goes shopping. All day long he is interrupted by salesmen, gossiping neighbors, borrowing neighbors and his son, all of whom interrupt his work. Thus he learns from experience that the women's role is not as easy as it looks. The incidents are kept on a humorous level.

The part of the wife was played by a woman with a masculine personality; she wore masculine clothes and emphasized masculine manners in gait and bearing. She had been twice married. Her masculine attitude had constantly got her into difficulties, and it was thought the play, by allowing her to take out her aggressions in a more socially acceptable manner, would help. The result was that not only the acting in the play helped her to realize her own difficulties and provided an escape, but also gave the doctors in the audience an insight into her case.

Feminine Nature

The part of the husband was played by a young man of neurotic tendencies who, the exact opposite of the wife, had a feminine and passive nature. He had fought against this but found in the play an opportunity to gratify his tendencies, to gain understanding of them and, by making a humorous predicament of them within the safe limits of the play, to learn how to manage them in real life.

The gossipy neighbor was played by a woman who had had several spells of depression. Every time she returned home from various institutions she again became depressed. She took the part after some urging, but once in, memorized the lines easily and became extremely interested. She made her own costume, indicating her idea of what a gossipy person would look like, and on the night of the play she spoke her lines in an exact yet humorous manner.

Upon seeing her doctor after the play she said, "I felt as if I were home." He was able from this opening to suggest that she was obeying a deeply-repressed wish to carry on the same type of aggressions portrayed on the stage.

The experiment as described is most interesting. Certainly it gives us, who are not daily familiar with them, some idea of the mental capacity of such patients and of the resourcefulness in treatment of the modern psychiatrist.

READ THIS FIRST:

Eleanor Conroy, 18, decides to try for a newspaper job when she learns that her sister's approaching marriage will deprive her of a course at business college. Phil Parrish, one of the reporters, begins to show an interest in Eleanor. After several months in the paper, Eleanor realizes she is in love with Phil.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER FOUR

"NELLY!"
"Yes, Mom, I'll be up in a minute." Eleanor stood at the door of the parlor in the crowded frame house in Maple street, looking at the familiar room.

There was the piano where she had spent hated hours over the scales, trying to justify the lessons that cost twenty-five cents. There was the crayon portrait of grandfather Conroy that she remembered from her babyhood. There was Pop's favorite chair by the radio the kids had chipped in to buy him for a Christmas present. The radio, with its ear phones, would never be used again. There was the old-fashioned couch with raised head, where she had convalesced from the illnesses of childhood. The carpet was worn from the scuffing of small feet long since gone away. It was a room that was part of her, but standing there she could feel no sorrow that after this week it would be there as it was no longer.

The heavy scent of funeral flowers hung over the room. The furniture had been put back in the place where Pop had lain in his last rest.

Her mother's voice came down to her again. "Nelly, you'd better run down to the store and get a can of corn. Hank is very fond of it. If the fresh corn isn't all gone, you might get that."

Eleanor drew the folding doors together. Later Hank could open them and take what he wanted. And wouldn't want any of the furniture.

Eleanor went out the door and down the short walk to the sidewalk and made her way to the corner grocery. After tomorrow she would never traverse that familiar path again, never eye, with distaste, the morning refuse, the litter of a shabby neighborhood. Something lifted her spirit, something that she must not let Mom know.

Poor Mom. Eleanor felt a little pang for her mother, wondering if she would be happy visiting Hank and Mary. She ought to be, after the life she had led in the frame house. Hank had written:

"There's room out here for both you and Mom, Nelly. Mary will be glad of the company and the old place has plenty of bedrooms. Don't be afraid that Mom will have to work. She's crazy about the kids and she will find this a real home. You will, too, if you'd like to come. I might be able to get you a job with the Jackson Seed company in their office. It's too bad you couldn't get to business college."

"Too bad," Eleanor muttered, shirking a stranded tricycle in her path. "I should work in an office as a file clerk when I'm sitting on top of the world." She thought happily of her weekly pay envelope with two crisp ten dollar bills in it. Sometimes there was an extra five in it.

And there would be more. When she wrote the story of the old mansion and its ghost, Thorne had said, "There's a nice touch of realism in this, Miss Conroy. You ought to cultivate your descriptive ability. Let's see any more stories you have like this. We can use some from time to time."

Some day she might be making forty-five dollars a week like Bessie Cahill. With that sum of money she would be rich! Own her own car. Have an apartment with a maid to cook her dinner. Take trips to New York and go to the opera and the theater. And buy bonds.

The grocer said: "It's late for fresh corn, Miss Conroy. We may get some in next week, but you know, by the end of September corn is likely to be pretty tough around here."

Eleanor thought: I'll cook delicious little suppers when I want to have people in. Aloud she said: "A can of corn then, Mr. Snyder, and a half pound of butter."

"There's a nice touch of realism in this, Miss Conroy."

"Did you say a HALF pound?"
"Yes, we're closing up the house. We . . . my mother is going to Pittsburgh with my brother, and I . . . well, that will be all."

At the railroad station at eight the next morning her mother said, "Nelly, take care of yourself."

"Oh, sure, Mom, and you have a good time. You'll get a good rest and I'll come down every week-end I can."

"And say goodbye to Phil for me. I like that boy. I hope he had a good vacation. But I think you might have told him about your father."

"If I had, he'd have come back and this is the first vacation he's ever had. Send him a postal card and tell him you're having a good time. . . . Well, your train's in."

There were tears in Eleanor's eyes as her mother's face faded from view. She didn't think then of the room with white frilled curtains and a dressing table and a real chaise longue in the house on Marbury street. She had loved the room from the minute she saw it. At last, a room with a door that could be closed to everyone. It was the beginning of the independent life she had dreamed of. She would have to remember that, that first day. She would have to swallow the lump in her throat, the first awful feeling of being completely alone.

She tried to remember that this was what she wanted, that night and the two nights later, but the cheerful voice of her mother, the remembered tones of her father's voice, the familiar noises of her old neighborhood, rang in her ears and she fought down the panic in her breast.

When Phil came back, she would not be alone in the evenings. He would help her to adjust herself to her new life. She longed for his return.

He would be back at the office on Friday.

On Thursday night when she came home to the doctor's house where she had a room she found him in the living room.

"I'm terribly sorry," he said at once. "If I'd have known before, I would have come back to you, Nelly."

"It's all right, Phil. It's best for everybody. Pop suffered and Mom needs the rest. As for me, well, I'm comfortable and terribly glad to have you back. I haven't heard a word from you, have no idea where you've been or what you do."

"Then, let's get going. We'll drive out to the seashore and have some dinner."

"It'll be deserted now, Phil. Nobody goes to the seashore in October."

"We do," he said. "So get a wrap. I may chill you with my news."

"News? Good or bad?"
"I'll tell you when you've had the meal I think you need."

After dinner Phil tucked her arm in his and walked her down to the deserted beach. Above them the stars were bright. About them the night was immense and dark. Eleanor clung to his arm, feeling her loneliness to be less with him.

He stretched a long arm toward the horizon. "Look over there, Eleanor."

Eleanor said, "Where? I don't see anything?"

"Just out there beyond the light-house . . . about a hundred yards to the right."

Eleanor laughed. "I can't see a thing."

"But you can see the place?" He asked anxiously.

She nodded.
"Good! That, my darling, is just about the kind of a place where my ship is coming in."

"Your ship?"

"I was in turn to nod. 'Yeah. A ship full of cars without rattles, and houses where you can close all the doors you want, and gardens full of the kind of flowers you love. And . . . anything else you want.'"

Eleanor felt something warm her, but she felt his arm about her, the wild beating of his heart. She could see the lean young line of his jaw and the waiting look in his eyes. She said: "What do you mean, Phil?"

His voice was husky. He said: "Nell, I've got a wonderful job in New York. That's where I was on my vacation."

"New York!" Phil was going away from her. When he was gone, there would be no one; alarm sharpened her voice.

He heard the note and his voice grew stronger with confidence. "I want to take you with me, Nell. We'll lead a Bohemian life. You'll be as free as you are now. Only . . . I . . . I'll be around when you want me. I'm going to get fifty dollars a week to start. We can live beautifully on that."

"Do you mean that you . . . you want me to marry you?"

He said: "If you will, please."

Eleanor felt like laughing, but she was crying. The joke on her own was both funny and sad. She said: "If you can't put things more clearly that that, how are you ever going to write the great American novel? When do we leave, Phil?"

GARDEN-GRAPH

If you did not plant lilies in your garden last Fall they can be planted now, or at least certain varieties can now be set out with safety. Some lilies only grow roots from the base of the bulb, while another group, called stem-rooting, send out roots from along the stem as well as from the base of the bulb. The stem-rooting lilies can be safely planted in the Spring, since the stem roots help to provide the bulb with food and water.

As shown in the Garden-Graph, the bulbs of stem-rooting lilies should be planted 10 to 12 inches deep. Each bulb should be set on a handful or two of sand. The stem-rooting group of lilies includes the Auratum-Elegans, Henryi, Longiflorum, Regale, Rubellum, Speciosum and Figuratum.

GET UP AT NIGHT?

A DIURETIC stimulant such as Dr. Pierce's A-muric is often indicated and usually it is sufficient to relieve minor kidney irregularities. Mrs. Milton Harris, 1019 Dove Lane, Toledo, Ohio, says: "During the day I always felt tired, as much of my rest at night was lost from necessary to take to relieve the misery." ORDINANCE NO. 1083

To Issue Bonds Without a Vote of the People

WHEREAS, this Council has heretofore by resolution, duly adopted on the 15th day of January, 1939, declared it necessary to issue and sell $7000.00 of bonds under authority of Sections 2293-2 and 2293-26 of the General Code of the State of Ohio for the purpose of resurfacing and repairing all streets of the City of Circleville, under a Federal WPA project.

WHEREAS, this Council desires a single bond issue for the foregoing purposes and the City Auditor has certified the maximum maturity does not exceed her estimate of the average number of years of usefulness as measured by the weighted average of the amounts proposed to be expended for said improvements in accordance with the table of maturities fixed by Section 2293-9 of the General Code.

WHEREAS, this Council estimates that a tax for said bonds will first appear upon the duplicate for the year 1939, and that the final tax settlement, with the County Treasurer next following the inclusion of a tax for this issue in the annual budget by the County Auditor, as provided by law, will be obtained not earlier than the first day of September, 1940; now, therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Circleville that for the purpose of resurfacing and repairing all streets of the City of Circleville, under a Federal WPA project, it is necessary to issue and sell $7000.00 of bonds under authority of Sections 2293-2, 2293-25 and 2293-26 of the General Code of Ohio, in one lot that the amount of said bonds to be presently issued shall be in the principal sum of $7000.00.

Said bonds shall be dated November 1, 1938, and shall be in the denominations of ONE THOUSAND and no/100—Dollars ($1,000.00) each. They shall be serial and shall be numbered from one (1) to seven (7) both numbers inclusive. They shall bear interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the 1st day of May and November of each year, until the principal sum is paid as evidenced by the interest coupons attached thereto, the first interest, however, being payable on the 1st day of May, 1939. Both principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable at the Office of the Treasurer of the City of Circleville, Ohio, upon presentation and surrender of bonds and interest coupons as they respectively mature.

Said bonds shall be due and payable as follows:

Bond Number 1 .. November 1, 1940
Bond Number 2 .. November 1, 1941
Bond Number 3 .. November 1, 1942
Bond Number 4 .. November 1, 1943
Bond Number 5 .. November 1, 1944
Bond Number 6 .. November 1, 1945
Bond Number 7 .. November 1, 1946

which maturities are hereby determined to be substantially equal annual installments.

For the payment of said bonds and interest coupons thereon attached to the full faith, credit and revenue of the City of Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, is hereby irrevocably pledged, and for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in the City of Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, in addition to all other taxes a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section II of Article XII of the Constitution.

Said tax shall be, and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, levied, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which, together with all interest collected on the same shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds, when and as the same falls due.

Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Auditor and the interest coupons shall have the fac-simile signature of said City Auditor printed or lithographed thereon.

COUNTY WHEAT GROWERS TO SIGN PARITY PAYMENT APPLICATIONS

RURAL CENTERS MEETING POINTS FOR FARM FOLK

Sessions To Be Held Three Days This Week For Participants

APRIL 30 DATE FINAL

1,410 Properties of 2,073 Included Under 1939 A.A.A. Program

A series of township meetings is scheduled throughout Pickaway county on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for farmers who have complied with their 1939 wheat allotments to sign applications for parity payments.

These payments, expected in the near future, will be the first to be received under the 1939 agricultural conservation program. Paul Matthaes, secretary of the county agricultural conservation committee, said that operators of about 400 farms throughout the county are ready to file applications for these payments. More will be listed later.

All meetings are scheduled from 7 to 9 p. m. Meetings in Muhlenberg and Monroe townships will be held in the township houses. All others will be held in the school buildings. Meetings on Wednesday night will be held in Darby, Harrison, Madison and Monroe townships. Thursday night, the meetings will be held in Walnut, Perry, Muhlenberg, Saltcreek and Scioto townships. The only meeting Friday night will be held in Deercreek township. Residents of townships not listed in the schedule will sign applications at the offices in the Farm Bureau home.

Mr. Matthaes explained that the parity payment on wheat is 11 cents a bushel times the appraised yield of the land, times the wheat allotment.

Final date for farmers to file for participation in the 1939 farm program is April 30. To date approximately 1,410 of the county's 2,073 farms are listed in the program.

MERCURY FALLS TO 39 DEGREE MARK AT NIGHT

High winds fanned Circleville and Pickaway county Monday afternoon and night bringing a drop from the Spring temperature of 75 degrees to 39 degrees. No wind damage was reported.

The high winds were accompanied by rain that amounted to .43 of an inch.

Showers were predicted for Tuesday with the cold weather to continue Wednesday.

FLOWERS MUST BE WORN IN NATURAL POSITION

The Easter parade brought out the fact that many folk are not aware of the rules of proper wearing of flowers. The simple rule is "wear the blooms as they grow naturally".

Corsages were formerly made to wear with the heads of the flowers hanging down, but this is now improper and the corsages are designed to be worn upright. Regardless of where the flowers are worn, observe the rule to wear them as they grow naturally.

The change has been brought about by recognized authorities through garden clubs and articles in newspapers.

Along this same line, it is improper to use the foliage of anything other than that of the flower itself in any flower arrangement. These two simple rules are frequently violated even by florists who should keep informed.

HOLLAND FIRM FOR NEUTRALITY IN CASE OF WAR

Premier Colijn Declares His Call For Frontier Guard Merely Precaution

GERMAN ATTACK FEARED

Britain Certain That Dutch Shall Remain Out Of Any Conflict

THE HAGUE, Holland, April 11—Amid spreading rumors that German troops are on the march near the Netherlands frontier, Premier Hendryk Colijn today proclaimed his nation's determination to remain neutral should Europe be engulfed in war.

In a nation-wide radio broadcast, Colijn declared that desire to remain neutral "in all circumstances" was the sole reason for the government's action in calling up frontier battalions during the night.

"There is no reason whatever for uneasiness," he declared. He stated the measures taken by the government were intended to defend the country's independence and neutrality.

"For this purpose," he said, "Holland's defenses must be kept ready."

"It is essential to protect the frontiers in order to safeguard any eventual mobilization, should that become necessary."

During the night it was announced that frontier battalions were being called to colors in view of the "present extraordinary circumstances."

Nazi Move Feared

The words "extraordinary circumstances" were obviously a reference to fears that Germany might suddenly make some move toward the West affecting Holland and Belgium.

Dutch neutrality, which was preserved during the World War, is a cardinal point of Holland's foreign policy. At the same time, preservation of the independence of Holland, as an European buffer state, is a primary object of British foreign policy. The general consensus in London appears to be that any German move against Holland or Belgium would lead to immediate and drastic British military action.

COUNTY GRANTS CONTRACT FOR WORK ON SPIRE

The Floyd Dean Roofing Co., 317 E. High street, Circleville, was successful bidder Monday afternoon for improvements on the spire of the courthouse. The firm's bid was $2,293.76. Five bids were submitted to the county commissioners.

The work includes furnishing all equipment and material for the removal of the present tile roof sections and reroofing. Estimated amount of the improvement is 1,600 square feet. Improvements on the roof were made necessary after recent winds damaged the roof, breaking out some of the tiles.

Commissioner Ralph May was absent from the meeting Monday. He is accompanying Sheriff Charles Radcliff and his deputy, Earl Weaver, on a trip to Texas to return a prisoner. They are enroute home now.

A series of township meetings is scheduled throughout Pickaway county on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for farmers who have complied with their 1939 wheat allotments to sign applications for parity payments.

These payments, expected in the near future, will be the first to be received under the 1939 agricultural conservation program. Paul Matthes, secretary of the county agricultural conservation committee, said that operators of about 400 farms throughout the county are ready to file applications for these payments. More will be listed later.

All meetings are scheduled from 7 to 9 p. m. Meetings in Muhlenberg and Monroe townships will be held in the township houses. All others will be held in the school buildings. Meetings on Wednesday night will be held in Darby, Harrison, Madison and Monroe townships. Thursday night, the meetings will be held in Walnut, Perry, Muhlenberg, Salter Creek and Scioto townships. The only meeting Friday night will be held in Deercreek township. Residents of townships not listed in the schedule will sign applications at the offices in the Farm Bureau home.

Mr. Matthes explained that the parity payment on wheat is 11 cents a bushel times the appraised yield of the land, times the wheat allotment.

Final date for farmers to file for participation in the 1939 farm program is April 30. To date approximately 1,410 of the county's 2,073 farms are listed in the program.

MERCURY FALLS TO 39 DEGREE MARK AT NIGHT

High winds fanned Circleville and Pickaway county Monday afternoon and night bringing a drop from the Spring temperature of 78 degrees to 39 degrees. No wind damage was reported.

The high winds were accompanied by rain that amounted to .43 of an inch.

Showers were predicted for Tuesday with the cold weather to continue Wednesday.

FLOWERS MUST BE WORN IN NATURAL POSITION

The Easter parade brought out the fact that many folk are not aware of the rules of proper wearing of flowers. The simple rule is "wear the blooms as they grow naturally."

Corsages were formerly made to wear with the heads of the flowers hanging down, but this is now improper and the corsages are designed to be worn upright. Regardless of where the flowers are worn, observe the rule to wear them as they grow naturally.

The change has been brought about by recognized authorities through garden clubs and articles in newspapers.

Along this same line, it is improper to use the foliage of anything other than that of the flower itself in any flower arrangement. These two simple rules are frequently violated even by florists who should keep informed.

HOLLAND FIRM FOR NEUTRALITY IN CASE OF WAR

Premier Colijn Declares His Call For Frontier Guard Merely Precaution

GERMAN ATTACK FEARED

Britain Certain That Dutch Shall Remain Out Of Any Conflict

THE HAGUE, Holland, April 11—Amid spreading rumors that German troops are on the march near the Netherlands frontier, Premier Hendrik Colijn today proclaimed his nation's determination to remain neutral should Europe be engulfed in war.

In a nation-wide radio broadcast, Colijn declared that desire to remain neutral "in all circumstances" was the sole reason for the government's action in calling up frontier battalions during the night.

"There is no reason whatever for uneasiness," he declared. He stated the measures taken by the government were intended to defend the country's independence and neutrality.

"For this purpose," he said, "Holland's defenses must be kept ready."

"It is essential to protect the frontiers in order to safeguard any eventual mobilization, should that become necessary."

During the night it was announced that frontier battalions were being called to colors in view of the "present extraordinary circumstances."

Nazi Move Feared

The words "extraordinary circumstances" were obviously a reference to fears that Germany might suddenly make some move toward the West affecting Holland and Belgium.

Dutch neutrality, which was preserved during the World War, is a cardinal point of Holland's foreign policy. At the same time, preservation of the independence of Holland, as an European buffer state, is a primary object of British foreign policy. The general consensus in London appears to be that any German move against Holland or Belgium would lead to immediate and drastic British military action.

COUNTY GRANTS CONTRACT FOR WORK ON SPIRE

The Floyd Dean Roofing Co., 317 E. High street, Circleville, was successful bidder Monday afternoon for improvements on the spire of the courthouse. The firm's bid was $2,293.76. Five bids were submitted to the county commissioners.

The work includes furnishing all equipment and material for the removal of the present tile roof sections and reroofing. Estimated amount of the improvement is 1,600 square feet.

Improvements on the roof were made necessary after recent winds damaged the roof, breaking out some of the tiles.

Commissioner Ralph May was absent from the meeting Monday. He is accompanying Sheriff Charles Radcliff and his deputy, Earl Weaver, on a trip to Texas to return a prisoner. They are enroute home now.
